Editorial

Greeting to all the readers of Baba Farid University, NURSING JOURNAL

Education is a great empowering force. It helps in empowering woman to greater extent. Nursing is one of the largest professions of women preference. Florence Nightingale the founder of the modern nursing established strong and firm roots of nursing, Based on that, the modern nursing experience has reached the present state of the day, through tremendous phases and stages of revolution. The dynamics of future Nursing existence and survival need strong and viable roots on which the future of Nursing education, administration and research stands and draw nourishment of knowledge for further dynamic growth and development.

It gives me immense pleasure to present the maiden issue of the Baba Farid University Nursing Journal through which scientific evidences will be shared amongst the nursing professionals; those are essential for continuous improvement in quality of nursing care outcomes. Traditionally, nurses relied on the knowledge acquired from personal experiences or wisdom passed down through generations of nursing professionals, therefore, it is high time to realize the essentiality of the evidence based practices in nursing care, administration and education. Recently more and more nurse scholars are engaging themselves in conducting the research studies to generate solution for nursing problems in our own nursing scenario. In the fast changing era of modern technology, where health care is also replaced by the modern methods and use of computers, electronic equipments, computer generated investigations and many diagnostic procedures including patient's record etc. It requires generating and disseminating of all scientific evidences in the field of nursing. Therefore, it is a modest attempt of the editorial team of the BABA FARID UNIVERSITY NURSING JOURNAL to disseminate the scientific evidences among nursing professionals which are primarily generated by own research scholars. Nurse can make use of these empirical evidences in day-to-day nursing practices to ensure quality nursing care, education and administration.

I would like to convey my sincere thanks to Hon'ble Vice-Chancellor, Prof. (Dr.) S.S Gill, who is the guiding force and the great visionary of health services under whom this journal has come into existence and who is at the helm of university affairs. I wish that under the patronage of Hon'ble Vice-chancellor, BFUNJ will reflect all nursing aspects as clinical nursing, nursing education, nursing administration, research and basic sciences. I appeal readers to share their valuable experiences for further improvement in quality of publication. I also congratulate the editorial team of the Baba Farid University NURSING JOURNAL, authors and subscribers for the most essential beginning towards motivation of nurses for promotion of evidence based practices which will help the nurses to share and use the scientifically proven experiences for the promotion of health and quality client care at affordable cost.
